Dear Becker / Colibri Group Hiring Team,

I'm applying for the Senior Email Marketing Specialist role. Owning a Salesforce Marketing Cloud email and SMS program, from the calendar and journeys to the HTML and the reporting, is the work I've been doing for the last six years, most of it in regulated industries.

- Salesforce Marketing Cloud, hands-on across the studios. As a Salesforce Marketing Engineer for THREE Insurance (an audience of about 150,000), I built and ran email in Marketing Cloud: Email Studio, Content Builder, Journey Builder and Automation Studio, with Data Extensions for segmentation and AMPscript for personalization. I'm sitting the Marketing Cloud Engagement Specialist certification exam this month.
- SMS alongside email. I've built SMS in Marketing Cloud, Klaviyo and HubSpot, coordinated with email so customers get one cohesive experience, with opt-in and opt-out handling built in.
- HTML/CSS for email. Today I'm an Email Developer at Tamman, hand-coding email for Bank of America and Merrill programs, work that has won Gold, Silver and Bronze awards (credited to BofA's creative team). I troubleshoot rendering myself rather than handing it off.
- Accuracy at volume. I consistently ship 5–10 unique campaigns a week, in financial services and pharma (CAR-T TALK for Bristol Myers Squibb and APOKYN at Snow Companies), where CAN-SPAM, consent and compliance review aren't optional.
- Testing and reporting. I run A/B tests on subject lines, content and timing, and turn results into clear recommendations for stakeholders.

Data Cloud is the one area where I'd be ramping up. I know the Salesforce data model and Contact Builder well, and I'm ready to learn Data Cloud segmentation and activation quickly. Since the role also supports the Financial Services ecosystem, my banking background should help there too.

My work samples are at emmanuelgmarquez.com. Thank you for your consideration. I'd welcome the chance to talk about growing Becker's email and SMS programs.

Sincerely,
Emmanuel Marquez
